THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME JANUARY 21, 2024

He has done all things well. He makes the deaf hear and the mute speak.

—Mk 7:37 Lectionary

From the Pastor's Desk:

Dear Ascension Family,

Blessings of peace and good health!

Today's gospel reading shows us the beginning of Jesus' ministry, his public life. He announces a message, and initiates a program of action. The message is "Repent!" The program of action is Jesus' call of his first disciples.

In these two steps we find the dynamics and process of our relationship with the Lord. The first step is the call for repentance, for a change of life and orientation, values, and way of thinking.

To illustrate, let me share a story. There was a man who went searching for the meaning of life. He went to a holy hermit and asked to be enlightened. The holy man invited him into his humble dwelling and began to serve him tea. He filled the man's cup and then kept on pouring so that tea was soon dripping onto the floor. The man watched the cup overflow until he could no longer restrain himself. "Stop! It is full. No more will go in." "Like this cup," said the hermit, "you are full of your own opinions, preconceptions, and ideas. How can I teach you unless you first empty your cup?" The call to repentance is an invitation to empty ourselves and to renounce the things that keep us from loving God and our neighbor.

The second step is Jesus' call to be his disciples sharing in his mission of doing the will of the Father. Every now and then people ask: "How can I know what is the will of God for me?" God gives us many ways of knowing his will.

St. Ignatius, in his Spiritual Exercises, lists three moments that can help in making a decision or in finding God's will. The first moment is when God's call is so clear like when he called the first disciples in today's gospel reading. You may be surprised that even today God sometimes calls us in this way.

Let me share with you the story of a young lady who became a nun. After becoming a Certified Public Accountant, she worked in a prestigious firm. Later, she was offered a job by another firm with almost double her current salary. Then, one Holy Week, when she entered the church, she felt the Lord hugging her heart and saying, "I want you to serve me." The young lady thought that was just her imagination, and she ignored it. The following year, the same thing happened. This time, she consulted a priest, who advised her to be open to the call.

The year after that, she was looking for a place to make her retreat. She looked for the nearest retreat house, so that she could escape and run back home if she did not like it. When she entered the retreat house, she immediately felt so at home. There were two groups of retreatants. She intended to join the group that was not discerning about vocation, but somehow she landed in the group discerning their vocation. Looking at the circumstances, God made it so clear as to what he wanted the young lady to do.

For St. Ignatius, the second moment of finding God's will is through the experience of spiritual consolation. A person may consistently be attracted to a certain state of life or profession. Or, a person may consistently experience God's approval and peace, when he thinks of the decision he has to make. On the contrary if what he decided on is not according to God's will, he experiences doubts, restlessness, and the feeling that God is distant.

When the movement of the heart is not clear, the third moment according to St. Ignatius is when a person begins with the use of reason, reflecting on the pros and cons (the reasons for and against) each of the alternatives. Then he decides which of the alternatives is more reasonable. Upon arriving at the tentative decision, he brings the decision to prayer for confirmation. The consistent experience of spiritual consolation means confirmation of the decision. While the consistent experience of desolation will indicate that something is amiss.

The call of God is not just to a state of life, like becoming a priest or religious, or getting married. God calls people to a particular mission. I know of young professionals who responded to God's call by working among the least fortunate. I know of people who give up their best morning time on Sunday to help in the mission of Christ to care for children. I know of people in the medical field who give up some of their money-earning time to serve for free in rural and poverty-stricken places.

What motivated these people? Probably, they heard the voice of Jesus saying, "Come. . . and I will make you fishers of men." Let us spend some time to look back into our lives. Have we ever heard the invitation of Jesus, "Come, follow me . . ."? If we have not, maybe our cup is too full.

Praying for you all,

Fr. Anacleto

EUCARISTIC REVIVAL 2022-2024

EXPLANATION OF THE MASS

After a series of short catechesis on the sacrament of the Eucharist, we will now have a series of short explanation of the different parts of the Mass.

(discussed here is continuation of the topic on Preparation of the Altar)

Purificator and Pall: The purificator is a rectangular linen cloth, which is placed on the chalice and under the paten, whose purpose is to cleanse the sacred vessels. It is named after the Latin verb “purificare” meaning “to purify,” because it is used to cleanse the chalice, the paten, and the ciboria, after communion. The pall, from the Latin “palium” meaning “veil,” is a square piece of stiffened linen used to cover the chalice, whose purpose is to prevent dust and insect from falling into the Sacred Species.

Chalice and Paten: The chalice is a special cup which contains the precious Blood of Christ. It is named from the Latin word “calix” meaning “cup.” The paten, from the Latin “patena” meaning “plate,” is the sacred plate which contains the Body of Christ. The chalice, the paten, and all sacred vessels, should be made of solid and noble materials, not resemble everyday kitchenware, and never be used for profane purposes. The inside of the chalice and of the paten should be a non-absorbent material, preferably gold. (Continuation on page of Saint’s Corner)

Eucharistic Revival
(continuation)

Missal : The Missal is the book containing the prayers and rubrics for the celebration of Mass. It should not be called Sacramentary, as different from Lectionary, because it does not contain the rites for all the seven sacraments. The Missal is the authoritative source for all liturgical actions of the Mass and must be faithfully followed. The Mass belongs to the whole Church and not to an individual priest or congregation, which have no right to alter the norms and prayers in the Missal according to their whims.

Saint's Corner:

St. Anthony of Egypt
January 17

Anthony was born in the village of Koman, Upper Egypt, in the year 251. He came from a wealthy family. His parents died when he was still young and he inherited a great deal of money and land. At the age of 20, when he was in church he heard the gospel reading about the rich young man who asked Jesus what he must do to have eternal life. Jesus told him to sell everything and follow him. Then and there Anthony felt in the depths of his heart that the words of Jesus were addressed to him personally. He took the words of Jesus quite literally. Then he left his village and settled in a secluded place to begin a life of solitude and prayer. He is different from St. Francis of Assisi in that most of Anthony's life was spent in solitude.

In the course of the next 85 years (Anthony died at the age of 105), Anthony lived his life of solitude and prayer in various places, always seeking a deeper solitude because wherever he settled people would always come to him for spiritual guidance. His holiness attracted souls as a magnet attracts iron.

During the first twenty years of his solitary life, Anthony was tempted by the devil under various guises. At times, the devil would represent to him the many good works he might have been able to carry out with his former wealth. Or the devil would constantly bring to his mind all the difficulties of his present condition, thus trying to make him dissatisfied with the vocation God had given him. Or again the devil would assail him with obscene imaginations. At times the devil would appear to him in a visible form, either as a beautiful woman to seduce him or as a threatening black muscleman bent on terrifying him. At other times Satan would frighten him with gruesome noises.

This went on for twenty years. During those long years of spiritual trials Anthony prayed almost night and day for strength to resist the devil's temptations. Obviously his prayer was heard for he eventually was victorious over the onslaughts of the devil. See what prayer can do! After those grueling years of spiritual trials, Anthony emerged from them, purged of all pride, as a man of peace and constant joy.
